What's happening?

For one night only on Wednesday 15th November, Mr B & Friends and FutureKings will be opening their shared studio to aspiring creatives who'd like a second (and third, and maybe even fourth) set of eyes on their creative tinkering.

Over the course of the evening you'll get the chance to show your work to at least four agency creatives. There'll be a mix of designers, art directors, animators and copywriters for you to chat to, ready to offer you their expertise, experience and knowledge. So come armed with questions!

What do I need to bring?

We'd love you to bring a maximum of three pieces of work that capture what you enjoy doing and showcase who you are as a creative.

We're not expecting polished portfolios, or even completed work (we get as excited about the initial stages of a project as we do about seeing the final design). So feel free to bring us your grand ideas, your panned projects, and everything in between.

I'm not studying a creative degree - can I still come?

Absolutely! Our doors are open to people from all backgrounds, from degree students to those wanting to know how to break into the agency world. If you've got a passion for creativity and a desire to break into the industry, come and join us.

This is a great opportunity to meet industry professionals, mingle with other emerging creatives, and get feedback on your work. All while gaining invaluable industry insights from a working brand agency.

We have a limited number of places available on the night, so be sure to sign up and register your interest.
